Harbour Trust welcomes Studio A and pop-up café Torpedoes

Sub Base Platypus is currently being transformed into a contemporary place for community recreation and work, where historic spaces are revealed, re-imagined and activated. In October, Sub Base Platypus welcomes two exciting activations.

Studio A exhibition – Home

18 October–2 November, Tuesday–Saturday, 10am–4pm

Where: Retort House, FREE

In the exhibition Home, Studio A artists share their visions of home in the historical Retort House within the Sub Base Platypus Harbour Trust site overlooking Sydney Harbour. The exhibition explores how the experience of home is understood and imagined by Studio A artists. That is, artists with intellectual disability.

Studio A artists articulate their vision of a dream home through a variety of art mediums including digital animation, textiles, painting and sculpture. The installation offers audiences an immersive experience where they can literally step inside artworks, taking in the sounds and sights of this multi-sensorial work.

Programming highlights

Receive a guided tour of the exhibition and support to participate in a creative conversation with the work. Participants will be led to create artwork in response to the exhibition and to contribute directly to the exhibition.
